Stephen George's expert witness work during our recent case was nothing short of outstanding. His critical analysis of the costs to replant several trees on an extremely steep hillside was meticulous, detail-oriented, and insightful. During the trial, Stephen's testimony was compelling and clear to understand. His ability to distill complex concepts into accessible language was impressive, and he maintained his composure even under aggressive cross-examination. His extensive expertise in the area helped the case, and I would enthusiastically recommend his services to any legal team seeking a highly qualified expert witness in this area.
